Re: Hayley Briar
Teacher Applicant for Special Education

To Whom It May Concern:

In my twenty-plus years of professional experience, I have worked at a variety of businesses and entities and with my experience in Human Resources, I can say without a doubt; Hayley Briar is the absolute best of the best. It is my distinct pleasure to recommend her for a teaching position with your school district. Hayley has all of the qualities – both tangible and intangible, that make her an outstanding candidate for this position.

First and foremost, Hayley is a natural leader. Regardless of the individual or the circumstance, she has the ability to make every person she encounters feel as if they (and their issues) are the most important things to her and that they take priority. In conjunction, she is an on-her-feet problem-solver. Whether the issues are external or internal Hayley knows how to immediately shift into resolution mode in order to achieve the quickest and most desirable outcome. Hayley is able to carefully move through the situation, inspiring confidence in those involved. Furthermore, she is confidential, extremely trustworthy, and those who have the pleasure of working with her know that she is a wonderfully talented individual.

Hayley Briar is compassionate and yet commanding. With the culmination of her gifts and core values, she connects immediately with everyone she meets. Hayley is currently student-teaching at Fresno Unified School District in Special Education. I believe the children there have benefitted from their contact with Hayley because she is someone who values every child's right to an education.

Hayley will make an outstanding teacher. She is completing the Credential Program at Grand Canyon University. It is her drive and desire to work with children that will make her the perfect candidate for any teaching position. I can assure you Hayley will be the teacher that students respect, and the school site will appreciate for her integrity, follow-through, and commitment to providing a wonderful learning environment for all students. She has an innate ability to connect, to develop trust, and to maintain accountability – critical ingredients for success in her chosen profession.

I am deeply grateful that I have the opportunity to know her. Please grant her your most serious consideration.

Respectfully,
